The following ar- writer was visiting:ticle which we copy from the San Francisco Picayone, gives the details of one of these influeous transactions :--

WHITTAKER AND MCKENZIE HUNG: The first of the restaking and execution of Wittaker and McKenzie by the Vigilance Consuittee, on yesterday afternous is already known to our renders. We shall therefore content ourselves with a brief summary of the prominent events of the dread tragedy.

At half past two, the quick peal of the bell on the Monumental Engine House told that the capture of the prisoners was accomplished. Thirty-six determined members of the Committee had been the members of the control of the control day perfecting measures to secure their procession. The method of the accomplishment of the daring design was known to but a few of the Committee, and within, shiftly character, that lailure was within, shiftly character, that lailure was out of the question. The hour which on each Subbath is allotted the prisoners in the Inil for religious exercises, and probably the only one in which the design could have been executed, was the our

The prisoners, among whom were Whitteker and McKenzie, were seated the enclosure outside their cells, and it listened to a discourse from the had instance to a discourse from the Koy. Mr. Williams, when as a hymn was being going, a noise at the worder gate started the sentries. Capt. Lambert endeavored to secure the culprits in their cells, but in a moment the gate was burst open, and the Committee, all well named, rushed in. While a portion of them recored the prison guard, the remainter seized the prisoners, who stoutly resisted, and hore them out where a carriage was in waiting. Two of the rescuers entered the carriage with the prisoners, helding revolvers at their heade . A the prisoners were carried to the amittee rooms, a large crowd following. Before the party had reached Daport street, the alarm from the Monumental belt was sounded, and the excited populace rushed towards Battery street. The whole affort did not occupy core than five minutes, and was an exploites unexpected as it was ingenious.

The prisoners were in the hall of the Committee and pinioned. Three min-utes sufficed to make ready the fatal rope from the beams over the two front doors of the Committee room; and at the expiration of that time, the miserable wreteles were brought to the doors.— McKenzie presented a trembling form and a condenance horrible to behold.— Whittaker, who was neatly dressed, here himself with strange fortitude. It mother moment, they were swang from the threshold! They died easily.— Whittaker gasped convulsively several times, and twitches of his legs were to he observed for some moments, McKen-

When life was thought to be extinct.
Mr. S. Bruman was called forward, and addressed the multitude in a most becoming manner; as also did Dr. Robinson and Stephen Payran.

After langing for lorty minutes, the bodies were lowered, and physicians examined to see it life was extinct. Pronouncing the men "not dead," they were a second time suspended, and so remained until near sunset.

Bloomer, b sallied forth to view the beauties of the lovely town and the surrounding country. An escort, we understand, was quickly formed, of about a hundred persons, who followed her in all perambulations through the vicinity, but so great was the awe inspired, whether by the lady or the "Bloomer" we are by the lady or the unadvised, that all her followers kept at a respectful distance, none of them approaching nearer than twenty feet.-[Nevada Journal.

Results of a Bad Character.—1 What a traveller you have become ! exclaimed an Englishman on secting an nequalintance at Constantinople.

"To tell you the truth," was the frank ply, "I am obliged to run about the reply, "I am obliged to run about the world to keep shead of my character; the moment it overtakes me I am ruined; but I don't care who knows me so long as I travel incognito."

Boswell records an unhappy man, who, having totally fost his character, committed spicide; a crime which Dr. Johnson reprobated very severely.

oWhy, sic? urged Brawell, "the man, had become infamous for life; what would you have had him do?"
Do, sir! I would have 'tim go to some country where he was not known. and not to the devil, where he was known.

AFRICA-DEATH OF MR. RICHARDSON THE AFRICAN TRAVELLER.—It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. James Richardson, the enterprising African traveller. This melancholy event took place on the 4th of March, last, at a small village called Ungurutua, six days distant from Fronts me capitat or Dodros. Early in Jam ary, he and the companions of his mis ary, he and the companions of his ins-sion, Drs. Barth, and Overweg, arrived at the immense plain of Damergou, when after remaining a few days, they sepa-rated, Dr. Barth proceeding to Kann, Dr. Overweg to Guher, and Mr. Rich-ardson taking the direct route to Kouka, her Zinde. There it would seem his by Zinde. There it would seem his strength began to give way, and before he had arrived twelve days' distant from Konka, he became scriously ill, suffering much from the oppressive heat of the son. Having reached a large town called Kangarrua, he halted for three days, and feeling himself rather retreshed he renewed his journey After two days' more travelling, during which his weakness greatly increased, they arrived at the Waddy Meilaba. Leaving this place on the 3d of March, they reached in two hours the village of Ungurutua, when Mr. Richardson came so weak that he was unable came so weak that he was almost to proceed. In the evening be took a little food and tried to sleep—but became very restless, and left his tent supported by his servant. He then took some tea and threw himself again on his heal, but did threw himself again. not sleep. His attendants having made some collee, he asked for a cup, but had not strength to hold it. He repeated several times, "I have no strength," and after having pronounced the name of his wife, sighed deeply, and expired without a struggle, about two hours after midnight.

Early in the morning, the body wrapready in the morning, the morning was ped in linen, and covered with a rarpet; was borne to a grave which was dug from feet deep, under the stade of a large tree close to the village, followed by all the principal Sheichs and people of the district. The Sultan of Bornau has interest and head of the state of the stat district. Love in Bayrood and Manhann.

An Irish Peace Society .-- We remember to have heard that some years ago a society met in Dublin for the prevention of duelling. The object was certainly praiseworthy, and one would have the that the men who set about thought that the men who set about such a task would have been emphatisuch a task would have been emplatt-cally men of peace. The society con-eisted only of lithen individuals, but ev-en amongst so small a number of men, united for a common object, there were great fundamental differences of opinion. Matters waxed warm—words became high—gestures grew veheraent—blows vere even about to be exchangedwhen cauls were demanded, and the day after this notable meeting, eight of the society of lifteen were found to be engaged in duels, lour as principals, the other four as accorde!

Bramum, being asked one day the secret of his success, (says a correspondent of the New York Express,) simply taughed and said: "Printers' ink."

FALLING IN LOVE. - A young man e-Falling in Love. —A young man belones with a silly girl and marries her, on a fortoight's acqueintunce. His filly is at length apparent even to hisoself, and he accounts for his ill advised conduct by saying that he "fell in love."—True enough that's the way to fall. She tells her scornful relatives or sympathising friends "that she fell in love." Alas, she says rightly, she fell in love! It is better not to full.

Assivator the Omo.-The steamship Ohio, Captain Schenck, arrived at New York Monday morning, from Chagres, via Kingston, Ja.

The gold train on the Isthmus was robbed by fourteen ruffians. Two of the fourteen were captured and taken to Panama. All the gold stolen was recovered, and part of the robbers were arrested. Four of them were shot at, and two of the four mortally wounded, while engaged in the robbery. Dr. Theyler, of Panama, found out that three of the boxes of gold were stowed away in a boat. When the thieves found out that they were to be detected, they threw the boxes into the Chagres river. The vigilant Doctor, however, found the gold, and it is on beard the

Many of the passengers in crossing the Isthmus, lost everything by the robbers, and the Isthmus is infested with the rascals.

The steamship Lafayette, (before reported on fire at Chagres) took fire on the 11th ult., instead of the 18th, and while making the effort to reach shoal water in tow of stemmboat Gorgona, filled and sank in 12 fathous water,-all hands saved with the exception of one coal-passer, who it was surposed, was sufficiated in the bunkers. She was insured, but not to the full extent of her value. The captuin, officers and crew came passengers in the Ohio.

Died on board the Ohio, Oct.3, Thomas Conner, formerly a coal passer on the Lafayette.

The Ohio brings U. S. mails from San Francisco. She left Kingston Sept. 29th, 2 P. M.

The amount of gold in the Ohio, per manifest, is $1,860,000, besides $600,-000 in the hands of the passengers.

Sept. 4, 1851, met steamship Northorner, from Panama, in the port of San Diego, with one shaft broke. She was bound out, and left that day for San Francisco-had had a mutiny on board.

The Captain was under the necessity of putting them in irons. The mutineers were passengers, and they undertook to take the ship, as Capt. Randle informed our correspondent.

The Ohio met the steamship North America, Sept. 19, 1851, bound 75 miles up the coast, from Cape Marbia, apparently full of passengers.

NIAGARA EGLIPSES.-The river Shirhawati, between Bombay Cape and and Comprin, falls into the Gulf of Arabia. The river is about one fourth of a mile in width, and in the rainy mason, some thirty feet in depth. This immense body of water rushes down a rocky slope three hundred feet, at an angle of forty-five degrees, at the bottom of which it makes a perpendicular plunge of eight hundred and fifty feet, into a black and dismal abyza, with a noise like the loudest thunder. The whole descent is, therefore, eleven hundred and fifty feet, or several times that of Niagara. The volume of water in the latter is semewhat larger than that of the former, but in depth of desson between them. In the dry accourthe Shirhawati is a small stream, and the fall is divided into three cascades of surpassing beauty and grandour. They are almost dissipated and dissolved into mist before reaching the bad of the riv-
